Stage area dimensions: 12mx8m minimum playing area plus waiting room 5mx5m. Tales of Magical Realism is site specific which can be staged in one large space or in multiply rooms which are linked.

Lighting requirements: The piece requires approximately 15 channels of dimmers to light the installation. The symmetrical layout of the piece is vital, and the place placement of the hanging bulbs is dictated by the placements of the pieces. We therefore need to accurately place and hang from the ceiling, bulbs of no more than 1Kg each.

Sound requirements: No sound requirements. Each Audience member is given a headset and iPod which are provided by the Company. Access for charging iPods required.

Number in touring company: 6 plus local technical support.

Touring availability: 2013 onwards

Any additional touring info: The audience arrives in a waiting area – (which can be a room or a corridor) three are invited to start the journey every ten minutes where they are given headphones and an iPod each. Each member of the audience enters their personal journey into a series of four miniature worlds. It is important that people in the waiting room cannot see into the installation room. They can be separate spaces or one large space with a suitable separation for no or little noise spill. Full tour pack available.

NB There is a live music version with guitar, cello and turntable performed in the Waiting Room. This increases the number on the road to 9.
